LANDS COMMISSION.

MR. WILLIS'S ARREST.

THE MAGISTRATE'S ACTION QUESTIONED.

WAS THE WARRANT ISSUED JUSTLY.

THE COMMISSIONER'S POWERS.

EXTENSION BILL INTRODUCED.

in the Legislative Assembly last night, Mr. HURLEY moved the adjournment of the House to discuss the following matter of public importance:—“That the action of Mr. Peter Murray, a magistrate, in the indiscriminate granting of warrants impeding the liberty of the subject, especially where there was no specific charge, as in the in-

Mr. FERRAN raised the point that there was no indication that the person who was arrested was the same person as the person who was arrested in the past. Mr. HURLEY explained that the name of the person who was arrested was Mr. Stephen Murphy. Mr. HURLEY said he had no intention of making an attack upon the magistrate. He said that he had held him in high respect, but he said that there had occurred recently that justice was being done. He said that he was asking whether the Government was going to take any action. He said that he was not sure of what had happened. He only was asking the subject from the standpoint of what happened in the White House. He said that he was not sure of the indiscriminate warrants without a specific charge about the person who was arrested.

ed to warrants should not be issued who had passed the censorship of the -General.
 -GENERAL: Would it
 be much worse?
 -NORTON: No; not if they passed
 law officers.
 -HERLEY said if it was anybody's duty to stand against Mr. Willis must have been the Government. This rate had gone outside his duty.
 -MR. COHEN: What opinion had the man who was the subject of the
 -NORTON: He had a list of suggestions from the Crown Law Department which would follow them.
 -MR. HERLEY said the magistrate immediately referred to the Crown authorities or asked for the Attorney-General's opinion in a matter of that kind.
 -NORTON: Not only Mr. Herley, but every man in the State. (Hear, he the PREMIER said he admitted at the subject would be the matter without looking at the fact the liberty of the subject was NORTON: Oh, but this is a quibble.

PREMIER: What members want
may this power has been about Member: That is the question.
THE PREMIER said that while the process of the Government, the Crown Law and Mr. Justice Owen, and if entitled the issue of a warrant it been done, Mr. Justice Owen stated that he had been told by Mr. Justice he did not see that Mr. Willis had of a criminal offence. His Honor that in his opinion it was not poss-

Dr. Samuelson said that advice, which, he thought, was given to him by the Premier, came from a very able jurist (the Premier) reviewed the history of the law in which one Samuelson was admitted in 1889, and he was then given a homestead lease in 1889, and pointed out that the matter had continually been coming up, and that he had been asked some years ago to be appointed Dr. of a Royal Commission to inquire into the questions made. He did not say much in the Commission, and Dr. Sir David had returned to the Member: Why?

THE PREMIER: Because certain persons had been asked by anyone of strength to get "bush-money." He thought it had to be taken place in connection with the amendment of the law was necessary. The present he was not in possession of the matter, but he thought it was the action he did, but he could not say that the matter had not occurred.

to be used unjustly some amendment would be introduced. (Hear, hear.)

KELLY said he was glad about the preliminary warrants. Mr. Murphy said he issued warrants to people who are not known to magistrates in their own country.

ROTH said it was not fair to make assumptions on hearsay statements against a man who was not there to defend himself.

LEEN thought that the warrants were not going into the matter.

KELLY said if the Government had a reason the warrant would not have been issued. He had a suspicion that this day was a trap.

HURLEY: I never spoke to one member of the Government, and not one member of the Government spoke to me about it.

KEENE said he was not interested.

To stigmatise a man who had no opportunity to defend himself was cowardly.

Mr. Murphy had shown he was a coward.

KEENE said that the Kelly gang were

NORTON said it was preposterous that the Government should control the press so much more than it did humanely and conscientiously, and was more willing to go into the fact-finding process. He did not see what the Government could do better than it had done. He would say that Parliament was not intended to make the Government responsible. The Government should have to leave the matter to the courts.

MINISTER FOR LANDS: It was given away after the news of Willis being taken to Australia was received. I made no comment to the press that had been conferred upon me. I am not aware of saying anything, and that they had no means of confirming Willis leaving Australia.

JESSEP failed to understand how it was that an aviator who allowed himself to be shot down by the Japanese was Mr. Stephen Murphy because he had not done anything that he had just said he had done. He gave him credit for not doing anything that he had just said he had done.

the Supreme Court Judges, whose decisions were made by a vote reversed by the High Court. I am not a member that it was the duty of Mr. Murphy, before he issued the warrant, to have consulted the Attorney-General. I am not an ATTORNEY-GENERAL: if he had come in a matter of that kind I would not have advised him. I would have told him to go on his own responsibility. (11/1/1918)

BROUGHTON maintained that Mr. Murphy would be commended for having it in mind to do what others were afraid to do.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL remarked that the Attorney-General would allow a magistrate to issue a warrant on the basis of the appearance of getting his advice how to proceed; Once a Minister was allowed to do that, the inevitable corollary would be that the Minister would have the power to direct the Attorney-General.

circumstances, one member of the House of Representatives and another member, also a Congressman, who was assistant magistrate who was asked to investigate, consulted the Attorney-General. Whatever action was taken, it was not for the purpose of punishing upon political motives. Whilst the duty of Mr. Murphy to act on his own behalf was a matter, it was not the duty of the Attorney-General (General) found to act so, that there was not free from mala fides or inconsistency, he would not spare the gentleman, but he would not spare him until they knew the whole facts of the case as they were presented to Mr. Murphy. He would not spare him without, the J. H. YOUNG said he would be very surprised if the magistrate did not have some explanation that would satisfy him.

MACDONALD had defended Mr. Murphy. He said he had done his duty. He said that he had done his duty for three weeks.

The annual meeting of the Cooma Cricket Rifle Club showed that of 17 who went through the course it was found that the best marksman was Mr. F. Gunning secured 60 points with 190. The club champions were Messrs. J. A. Wilson, W. H. Williams and Mr. C. E. Gunning. The prize for the best score at each competition was made up by Mr. Wilson and Mr. Gunning. The following officers were elected for the year—President, Mr. J. A. Wilson; hon. treasurer, Mr. H. B. Williams; hon. secretary, Messrs. J. B. Summerville, N. Morris, and Messrs. J. A. Wilson and W.
